

Title: ICL Graduate Business School Graduation Ceremony 2022

ICL Graduate Business School graduands, 2022. A moment to take pride in how far they have come.

Tuesday, 13 December, significantly marks the graduation day for ICL Graduate Business School, with graduands of graduate diplomas, post-graduate diplomas and master's degrees across different ranges of programmes joining us on this joyous day.

Ewen Mackenzie-Bowie (left), Chairman of ICL Education Group giving a speech

The ceremony is for all alumni of Level 7, Level 8 and Level 9, who graduated between April 2021 and August 2022. At 1.30 pm, the graduation ceremony officially commences for Business, Business Informatics and Teaching Early Childhood Education programmes.

Amongst the 68 graduands attending is valedictorian Atimata Nemaia of the Teaching Early Childhood Education programme. Through hard work and dedication, she has completed her Graduate Diploma with flying colours. We also welcome ICL Education Group Chairman Ewen Mackenzie-Bowie and Professor Thor Besier, Chairman of ICL Research Advisory Board for their anticipated speeches.

Valedictorian Atimata Nemaia (left) giving a speech

Three of our graduands have been awarded for remarkable work in their respective field of study: Xiaolian Zhang receives the award of Academic Achievement in Early Childhood Education, Danitza Carolina Baeza Ramos for Academic Achievement in Business/Informatics, and Niroshini Pradeepika Godakande Arachchi for Academic Achievement in Research. ICL Education Group lecturers and programme coordinators sing praises of our dear students, who managed to better themselves and powered through the COVID-19 pandemic in their academic journey despite all odds.

At the Pioneer Women's Hall in Ellen Melville Centre, Auckland CBD, the day culminates in a warm and intimate atmosphere, where ICL graduands and lecturers reminisce about memorable moments, bid farewells and exchange well wishes for a bright future. ICL Education Group lecturers, programme coordinators and staff members would like to express our gratitude to our graduands for their support in the past two years, and we wish you all the best in your next endeavours in life.